

AMONG THE COLLEGES.

HARVARD.

THE FUTURE OF THE ANNEX.

Cambridge, Mass., May 7 (Special).—A question of really great importance is at present being considered by the corporation of Harvard, namely, the admission of women as regular part of the university. The women's college, commonly known as the Harvard Annex, this institution has absolutely no official connection with Harvard, but it has strong friends among the faculty who would willingly see it made a regular part of the university. Hitherto the objection which has had the most influence in keeping the Annex where it has been the argument that its admission would involve the corporation with too burdensome an expense. The friends of the Annex have, within the present year, succeeded in well in raising money, that should the corporation now adopt a little sister for Harvard, this little sister would probably come with a fairly fat purse. However, the corporation has no idea that it cares to be bribed in this way. And yet it realizes the growing influence among many prominent Boston and Cambridge people to make Harvard co-educational. As a body, it is strictly conservative and its determination not to depart from the traditional customs of 220 years. It is forced, however, to recognize in some way the urgent plea for admittance of the Annex. It is becoming so serious a matter that the corporation proposes to check it by making it a department of the university, but in such a way that it will not bring about co-education. Accordingly, it proposes to include the Annex, but with a corporation and government of its own, the professor and instructor holding office practically of the university authorities. Graduates will receive a degree, equivalent to the college and university degrees, issued by the Annex faculty, and distinguished by the president of Harvard. By this arrangement the women's college will be kept distinctly separate from the college proper. The students will have the privilege of the graduate courses. This, and the higher value placed upon the degrees, will be to the benefit and gain to the Annex by its admission. The friends of the Annex are not exactly pleased with this scheme, for they see in it an attempt to exclude forever co-education from the college.

On Saturday the class races were held. Usually after this event all the rowing interest centers on the Varsity crew. This year it will be different. The West Boat Club has arranged for a regatta for the Varsity crew, double and single sculls on June 3 with the Union Boat Club and the Boston Athletic Association. Mr. Webb, the club's coach, has been very successful in convincing the men to add a race between eight. It is likely that the club will thus train a regular crew for the regatta. During the week the college has received the gift of a new dormitory building, which will be named Perkins Hall, in honor of Daniel Perkins, a graduate of the college. The estimated cost of the building is $150,000.

John R. Oliver has been elected Editor-in-Chief of the "Harvard Monthly."

YALE.

New-Haven, Conn., May 7 (Special).—Yale is preparing for the great athletic event of May 13, when her representatives will make the most earnest effort of her lives. On this date will be held the Yale-Harvard Track Association games. The association was formed in 1890, and since that time Harvard has held the championship cup. Yale men feel that the coming meeting will be Yale's chance to wrest the prize away from their old rival. Yale's chances are none of the best, and for this reason the games will be followed with greater interest by Yale men than ever before.

The list of entries sent to Cambridge by Captain A. H. Jones includes a number of new men, who have done exceptionally good work in practice. Yale men believe that they have a good show to win at Cambridge, and that were the games held in Yale's territory Harvard's chances would be in the minority. This belief is hardly well founded, when the experience of the past is taken into account. In the 100-yard dash Yale expects W. Richards, '95, to win. He is the football player who did such good work at fullback on the college side last fall. Richards was put four or five yards in last Saturday's games, for some strange reason, but was beaten by Bennett, a freshman, in 10.12 seconds. It is generally thought that Richards can do 10.12 in the 100-yard dash, and if he is the fastest man in the college, he will be the fastest man in the college. Richards, however, is not the only one who has done well in practice. In the 440-yard run Yale has no right to expect a single point. Here again Yale cannot hope for any points unless it can win the 100-yard dash. In the mile run, this event should be a desperate race. Yale's best men will be J. E. Morgan, '94, and S. Smith, '95. In the 1,600-yard run Yale has no right to expect a single point. In the 440-yard run Yale has no right to expect a single point. In the mile run, this event should be a desperate race. PRINCETON.

Princeton, N. J., May 7 (Special).—The Isabella McCosh Infirmary has been completed, and is now ready for occupancy. The idea of building the infirmary originated at the last annual alumni dinner, and has been pushed through with undiminished enthusiasm. It is situated at the southeastern corner of the campus, just back of the president's residence. The building is heated by steam. Electric bells and speaking tubes connect each room with the lower kitchen, and large water pipes are distributed through the building for use in case of fire. The lighting will be done by gas. The front halls on the first and second floors, each bedroom and most of the other rooms are provided with open fireplaces. At the end of the hall is the main ward, a large, well-lighted, and well-ventilated room, provided with four single beds. The main ward opens into a class-meeting porch, decorated for sun baths. On the same floor is the apothecary's room, and on either side of it are the reception and operating rooms. The second floor corresponds closely to the first. Mrs. Franklin B. Hill, widow of the late curator of the biological museum, has been appointed matron. In case of serious diseases trained nurses will be brought from the University. The building is owned by the trustees of the infirmary, and is to be maintained by the University. The building is to be used for the purpose of receiving and caring for the sick and infirm.

The general subject for the Varsity debate was "Resolved: That the United States is a democracy." The next Butterfield lecture will be delivered by President Seth Low, of Columbia. The Mayors of the cities of the State have been invited to be present. It is rumored that Professor A. S. Wright, the junior professor of modern languages, will resign at commencement time, to accept the chair of modern languages in the Case School of Applied Sciences, at Cleveland, Ohio.

AMHERST.

Amherst, Mass., May 7 (Special).—The question of compulsory attendance at church continues to be the prominent topic of the day. The faculty at their meeting last week anticipated the petition which was in circulation among the students and declared in favor of continuing the present system, sending a copy of their vote to the parents of the men in the college. The petition was, however, presented last Wednesday, with an explanation that it had been largely signed before the previous action of the faculty, and as the reasons set forth by the faculty were not such as to convince the student body, the proposition was considered to be a matter for the trustees to consider on the question and learn definitely how they stand. There will be an organization effected this term to continue the opposition to the rule, and already many offers of aid have been received from alumni, one graduate having offered to contribute all the funds necessary for the circulation of a general petition among the alumni and friends of the college.

Professor Cowles represented Amherst at the meeting of the Commission of New-England Colleges, in Boston, last Friday and Saturday.

The second annual book of 1902-03 has been issued by the secretary. Of the twenty-eight who graduated in the class there are now living ten.

The annual joint debate between the Philologist and Philologist societies occurred on Friday evening. The representatives of the Philologist society, which won the debate, were J. D. Murphy, '93; Rowe and Gulliver, '94. Burt, '95; Wilson, '94, and Mennett, '95, were their opponents.

The Junior class will give its supper this year in honor of F. P. Thompson. The Glee Club gave a concert in Pittsfield on Tuesday night. T. G. Adams, who has been director of the college gymnasium for the last two years, will resign, to accept a similar place in the Leland Stanford Preparatory School, at Belmont, Cal.

Under the direction of the Pennsylvania State Commission, a land of five from the College Young Men's Christian Association will make a tour of the northern part of the State, during the summer vacation, conducting gospel services in the larger towns. The baseball team played with the University of Virginia on Thursday and Friday, and at the University of Georgetown yesterday.

WELLESLEY.

Wellesley, Mass., May 7 (Special).—A reception was given on Monday afternoon by President Shafer and the faculty to the senior class and other guests, among whom was Professor William Drummond, of Edinburgh. The college chapel was crowded on Thursday evening, when an address was given by Professor Drummond. A large delegation from the class of '96, of which Professor Drummond is an honorary member, dined with him at Numbega Cottage, as the guests of Professor Shafer.

On Friday evening the new crew boat of the sophomore class was launched with appropriate ceremonies. A short address was made by the sophomore president, Miss Capps, after which the captain of the crew, Miss Dennis, broke over the boat's bow a bottle of champagne. The crew then pushed the boat off the shore, while the whole class joined in the cheering.
